Press Release For Immediate release

Red Cross launches a Basic Income System - called Sarafu Network

Following COVID-19 implication, Grassroots Economics Foundation, in conjunction with the Danish and Kenya Red Cross Society, local administrations, local businesses, Mosques, Churches, chamas, schools, and individuals alike are working to create healthy and sustainable communities in the face of hard economic conditions through the introduction of a basic income system called Sarafu Network which distributes a blockchain-based token called Sarafu to anyone in Kenya. Since piloting in 2020, now over 40,000 households and small businesses have joined Sarafu Network and over 200 Million Sarafu have circulated among users to support each other to trade food, water, education, labour and more.

Sarafu Network is a basic income program that aims to empower and support vulnerable Kenyan households by creating a cushion in times of financial crisis through the distribution of Sarafu tokens. The charitable acceptance and usage of Sarafu tokens by both businesses and communities helps vulnerable households receive support and in turn helps local economies to keep moving during a crisis or when Kenyan Shillings are lacking (like barter trade). Note there is no exchange for Sarafu and Kenyan Shillings.

The program is free and open for anyone in Kenya to join and is currently most active in Kwale, Kilifi, Mombasa, Nairobi and Siaya. Users and businesses that don't need Sarafu are encouraged to share their basic income of Sarafu with vulnerable households and to accept Sarafu for their goods and services.

To enroll you simply dial *384*96# on your Safaricom line or *483*46# on Airtel. Once you dial the code, you first choose your preferred language, and enter a secret PIN (Pin yako ni Siri Yako). You'll then receive 50 Sarafu on registration and can immediately start sharing it with those in need and accepting more Sarafu for your goods and services; based on usage you will receive more weekly.
